Pomeranian Voivodeship – high potential for the development of road transport

The capital of the region is Gdańsk – a city that together with Gdynia and Sopot forms the Tricity agglomeration. Gdańsk has almost half a million inhabitants, and the entire Tricity has nearly 800,000. The most important Pomeranian roads, in addition to the A1 motorway, are S6 and S7 expressways as well as national roads no. 6, 7, 20, 21, 22, 25, 55, 90, 91.

The railway network in the voivodeship is undergoing constant modernization

The railway line 201 from Gdynia through Kościerzyna to Maksymilianów is the main railway line of the voivodeship. The works related to the construction of the second track and electrification will start already in 2020. One of the key projects of PKP Polskie Linie Kolejowe is the modernization of the thoroughfare between Bydgoszcz and the Tricity. The project will lead to the increase in the speed of freight trains to 100 km/h, and passenger trains to 140 km/h. The investment will create a new corridor to the port of Gdynia, which will allow the redirection of freight traffic without taking into account the Tricity Railway Hub burdened with passenger traffic.
