WHAT MAKES US DIFFERENT

Access to specialists and qualified employees

Polish universities currently offer over 250 degree programmes related to games, including information technology, programming, game design, digital art and games studies. About 8% of employees in Polish gaming industries are foreigners and 25% are women.

Poland as an important point on the global GameDev map

The export of Polish games generates nearly 96% of the revenue of the Polish gaming industry. The United States remains the key export destination. The second largest sales market is the European Union + Great Britain. Polish GameDev is a leader in this sector, achieving global success every year.

The Polish game sector did well during the Covid-19 pandemic

Research by Polish Gamers Research has shown that during the Covid-19 lockdown interest in games increased. During that time, over 30% of the surveyed players admitted that they play more often than usual. According to experts: the Polish gaming sector coped well with the effects of the Covid-19 pandemic, which had a positive aspect. More hours spent on gaming also contributed to better sales results of many video game titles.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

There are great opportunities for Polish game producers

The global game market is growing rapidly compared to other parts of the entertainment industry. Polish artists keep up well with the global competition. Many titles are about the development of virtual and augmented reality (VR and AR). Forecasts of the Global Games Market Report assume that the global value of the video game market will increase to approximately $218.7 bn in 2024, and this creates great opportunities for Polish producers.

Poles are a nation of players

The estimated number of gamers in Poland exceeded 20 mln in 2020 and this market is still developing.

This provides a solid foundation for domestic sales. Although Poland is only one of the many markets for Polish game producers, the massive popularity of games in Poland means there are great opportunities for hiring enthusiastic employees.

Poland has become a net game exporter

In the year 2020, for the first time the Polish game industry exported more games than were imported for the local market. This makes Poland a net games exporter and makes games the only Polish cultural product that is exported in greater quantity than is imported. Moreover, Poland is one of only a few countries in the world to achieve this.

Polish game sector conferences and initiatives

A Game Industry Conference

GIC, together with the Poznan Game Arena expo, offers a unique synergy of B2B and B2C events available in only a few places. The conference gathers Polish studios, publishers, distributors, other entities associated with the sector, and foreign participants. B2B meetings, inspiring discussions, interesting presentations – all these can be found at GIC, backed up by the B2B exhibition zone and careers event. The newest addition of the 2020 edition is the GameDev Investment Forum.

The PGA expo is the prime target for new titles promotion for everyone wanting to reach the big Polish game market, especially with PC games. GIC & PGA also host the Central & Eastern European Game Awards.

The Digital Dragons Conference

Organized by the Kraków Technology Park, the annual Digital Dragons Conference offers a series of lectures, business (B2B) meetings, panel discussions, and the opportunity to learn more about the games sector. It also provides access to exhibition space. The whole event culminates with the Digital Dragons Awards gala.

The conference is part of a broader initiative - Digital Dragons Hub. The initiative offers support through a startup accelerator and incubator. In addition, DD Hub conducts industry research and organizes educational activities through the Digital Dragons Academy, which offers free courses to help people start their careers in gamedev.

The Polish Investment and Trade Agency

The Polish Investment and Trade Agency's (PAIH) mission as a Government Agency is:
